There yet remain some other diversions New York has provided as host to her 12,000 guests. The big river steamboat Washington Irving was not found capacious enough to accommodate all the thousands who yearned to see West Point and its local committee of 100. So the steamboat Sandy Hook was chartered also. And after the capacity of both craft had been exhausted and the multitude continued to clamor, the committee last night arranged to carry the 'overflow" on two special trains, leaving Grand Central Terminal at 11 o'clock this morning.

Then too there will be golfing to-day in competition for sundry silver trophies Geehan, sporting editor.
